

BELLIGERENT BOOMERS

THE HOSTILE CAMPS READY FOR THE COMING FRAY.

The Oklahoma Behind Their Earthworks.
Col. Hatch Concentrating Troops—A Battle Imminent—Colonel Troops Against Ex-Union Soldiers.

CALDWELL, Kan., Jan. 28.—A man from Couch's camp says it is located about half way between the Stillwater and the Cimarron rivers. Couch's men are continually throwing up breastworks, and have dug pits so that they can move about without being seen. It is asserted here that nothing short of bloodshed will eject them. A great many cattle men who are connected with syndicates reside or are wintering here. They of course oppose the settlers. They say this winter has been the most severe on cattle of any for many previous years. On one ranch out of 12,000 head 2,000 have died. In other large herds the proportion of those dying is even greater. Lieut. Palmer arrived from Fort Riley Monday evening and relieved Lieut. Jackson, who was left here by Col. Hatch as assistant quartermaster. Chief Quartermaster Gills has arrived from Leavenworth.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Jan. 18.—The two armed camps of Gen. Hatch and Capt. Couch, the boomer leader, lie within about nine miles of one another, with the possibility of a collision at any hour. It is learned that fifteen companies of infantry have reached Gen. Hatch from Fort Reno and that he had moved his camp nearer that of the boomers. The latter have supplies to last at least thirty days, and so cannot be starved out in less than that time. They will resist capture at any cost. A large amount of fire, gas, and shrapnel stoves and has arrived from St. Louis by express at Caldwell Monday morning for the soldiers. More troops are on their way from Fort Leavenworth and Riley.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 28.—Gen. Hatch has no holiday job before him. The 600 men now encamped in the coveted territory have made up their minds to stick, and they are not likely to make any sudden change. They have been wonderfully active during the few days in preparing to receive Gen. Hatch. They are determined and belligerent and show all the symptoms of fight.

Capt. Couch, who has succeeded to Capt. Payne, is a well-to-do and successful farmer of Butler county, Kan. He has been under fire and has sent service, as have a majority of the boomers. He is a quiet, determined man, temperate in his habits, free from all bluster, but solid, independent and firm in his movements. He is an entirely different character from Payne, and there is where the danger comes in.

The boomers know all about the movements of the troops. They have scouts out constantly, and the entire border sympathizes with them. They know there have been companies of troops now held in readiness at different points to be forwarded to the seat of war.

The troops are stationed as follows: Four companies of infantry at Fort Leavenworth; one at Fort Gibson, Indian territory; four at Fort Lyon, Colorado; three at Ft. Union, New Mexico; one at Fort Reno, Indian territory; three at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, and three troops of cavalry at Fort Riley. With the exception of the troops in New Mexico the balance can be concentrated near the boomers' camp in forty-eight hours.

The colonists are fully posted and are fully prepared as possible. They have thrown up breastworks, dug rifle pits and built a sort of fort or block house, and are prepared to decidedly give General Hatch a warm reception. It has been the general impression that they would not fight, as they have been driven out so often. There has, however, been no legal adjudication of the case until a few months ago, when a trial was forced and Judge Foster decided that the going upon the lands was not a criminal act. This has greatly emboldened the boomers, and they now think that the action of the troops is oppressive and tyrannical, and that they have legal and as praiseworthy as the course of the revolutionary fathers in resisting the British at Bunker's.

The country is well timbered along the streams, and the lands are rich in possibilities for agriculture and cattle raising. It is a goodly land. The boomers are not a majority of the movements of the troops, but a majority of the raiders do not really think the secretary of war will allow General Hatch to turn his colored troops loose upon ex-white soldiers of the union army.

He Walked Into Their Arms.
CINCINNATI, Jan. 28.—While Detective White and Kusin were walking down Central avenue, they ran plump into James Chumley, who jumped his head over some time since, while awaiting trial on an indictment for murder in the second degree. He was arrested and taken to Central police station, and afterward turned over to Sheriff Beresford, who locked him up in the county jail. Chumley became involved in a quarrel with Charlie Lamb, three years ago, which culminated in Chumley shooting Lamb dead. He was indicted for murder in the second degree, and released on bond. When his case was called for trial he was not in court, and his bond was declared forfeited. He was next heard from as being in the Chicago jail, about two months ago, when the Cincinnati authorities were informed that they could have the murderer by sending for him. The county commissioners refused to appropriate the necessary funds and the case was dropped.

Mr. Cleveland's New York Visit.
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 28.—President-elect Cleveland is making arrangements for a visit to New York, and, while no date has been fixed for his departure, it is understood that he will leave here this week. The announcement that he will be a guest of the Fifth Avenue Hotel is rather premature, as no definite arrangements have yet been made in that direction. There has been a very determined effort on the part of some of the friends of Mr. Cleveland and the hotel management to secure his consent to making the Fifth Avenue Hotel his headquarters. Republican presidents and candidates for that high office have invariably stopped at this hotel, and, naturally, its managers are very anxious to keep up the succession.

The G. A. R. Encampment at Akron.
AKRON, O., Jan. 28.—Department Commander H. E. Floyd and staff, of Cincinnati, has arrived and delegates are coming on every train for the state encampment. G. A. R. opening. The women's relief corps of Ohio is also in convention. The annual report shows 30,000 members of the G. A. R. in Ohio, an increase of 5,000 since last year.
